Our Mission

Building on our legacy of respect and service and our understanding of the impacts of social drivers of health, Ryan Health provides high-quality, innovative, and responsive care to those in need, emphasizing underserved communities. We create safe spaces, engage patients in their own care, and advocate with our stakeholders to advance health equity and community well-being.

High-quality care is everyone's right and our responsibility.

Dear Friends and Supporters

We are proud to share highlights from this past year's work in our 2025 Annual Report and the meaningful impact your generosity makes possible. Because of your support, Ryan Health continues to expand access to compassionate, community-based care for children, families, and older adults across New York City.

This year, we are especially proud to highlight three areas of impact. Through our Pediatric Behavioral Health – HealthySteps Program, families with infants and young children receive developmental screenings as well as behavioral assessments and connections to community resources and support. These early interventions build strong foundations during the most critical years so children and families can thrive.

Our School-Based Health Centers continue to bring high-quality primary, mental health, and preventive care directly to students where they are – making care more accessible. Students get the same care at school that they would receive at one of Ryan Health's main centers, including annual physical exams and prescriptions for medications. This increased access to primary care has a lasting impact which goes far beyond the classroom.

And through our Connecting with Older Adults in the Community work, our outreach teams are helping older New Yorkers stay healthy, active, and engaged. At community and senior centers, at health and wellness fairs and workshops, our teams share invaluable health education on topics such as chronic conditions and staying mobile. Meeting older adults where they are – and improving connections to care – are the cornerstones to supporting healthier aging that we are proud of.

These accomplishments would not be possible without your support, and the unwavering dedication of our Boards of Directors, leadership team, staff, and partners, to build together healthier communities for the future. Thank you for standing with us as we continue to advance health equity and our commitment to the principle that healthcare is a fundamental right for all.

With gratitude, thank you for making this work possible.

A Tribute to Congressman William F. Ryan – Our Greatest Advocate

Ryan Health was founded in 1967, and we are proud of the fact that we were one of the first three community health centers to be created in the U.S. to meet community needs for improved healthcare services. In 1977 we became an independent community health center, and in 1978 we were renamed as the William F. Ryan Community Health Center (Ryan Health for short) in honor of the late Congressman William F. Ryan who represented us in the U.S. House of Representative and who was our greatest advocate.

William F. Ryan dedicated his life to advancing social justice and ensuring that every American had access to quality healthcare. A true champion for the underserved, he believed deeply that compassion and fairness must guide public policy. His conviction that "healthcare is a right, not a privilege" continues to inspire us at Ryan Health every day.

We thank our friends and supporters for all that they do every day to help us advance health, dignity, and hope in our community.

2025 Highlights

Pediatric Behavioral Health – HealthySteps Program

HealthySteps is an innovative pediatric program that supports the healthy development of infants and young children while providing guidance for parents and caregivers. Working alongside Ryan Health pediatric care teams, HealthySteps specialists offer consultations and counseling for families with children ages 0–5 on parenting, child development, parent-child attachment, and caregiver mental health (including post-partum depression).

The program also provides screenings for developmental delays, autism, childhood traumas, and social drivers of health. Families receive developmental, behavioral, and mental health assessments, referrals, and connections to community resources and support services.

Through the HealthySteps team consultations and screenings, some of our patients ages 3-5 may be offered on-site neuro-psychological evaluations that can provide diagnoses of developmental disorders free of charge through a Ryan Health community partnership.

Focused on early intervention and family well-being, the HealthySteps program helps build resilience and strong foundations during the critical early years of a child's life so children and families can thrive long term.

School-Based Health Centers

Ryan Health operates several School-Based Health Centers (SBHCs), making it easier for students and their busy parents to access primary and preventive care right where children and adolescents spend most of their day — at school.

At a SBHC, students are able to get the same care at school that they would receive at one of Ryan Health's main centers, including:

- Annual physical exams (including those for sports and camp)
- Treatment for chronic and acute illnesses
- Medications and prescriptions
- Screenings for vision, hearing, asthma, and obesity
- Referrals to specialty care if needed
- Mental health services (with group or family therapy, and crisis intervention available)
- Age-appropriate reproductive healthcare
- Vaccines required for school and recommended for disease prevention

In the last year, the SBHCs have increased student medical visits by 55% which has led to increased access to primary care for students, with a rippling effect far beyond the classroom, and which leaves a lasting mark on the lives of these students.

Connecting with Older Adults in the Community

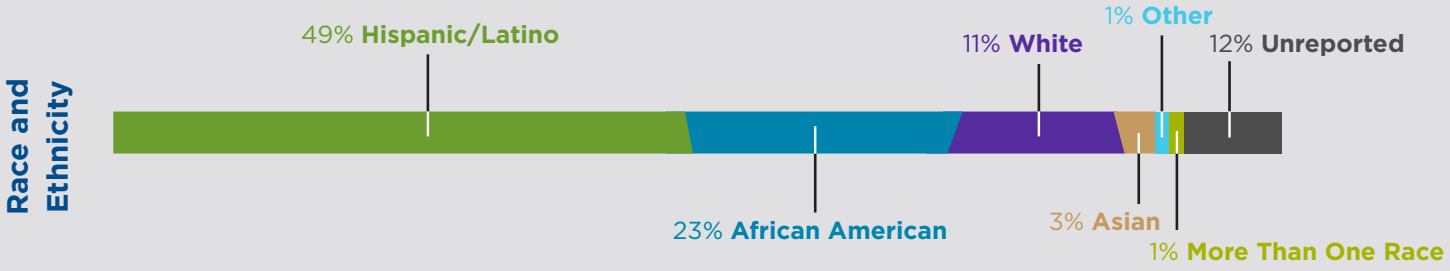

The Ryan Health Community Outreach team continues to deepen its work with older adult community members to empower them to thrive, not just survive.

With trusted partners at community and senior centers, at health and wellness fairs and workshops, our team of experts share invaluable health education and connect older adult attendees to essential healthcare resources in welcoming, community-centered environments.

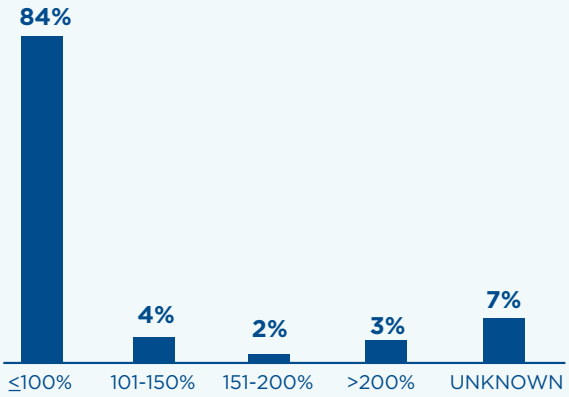

Our team, which includes our medical professionals and geriatric specialists, also lead conversations on preventive care and managing chronic conditions. We also engage participants in presentations on mobility and low-impact exercises, some have even taken part in spirited yoga demonstrations.

Meeting older adults where they are — to help them stay healthy, active, and engaged, and improving connections to care — are the cornerstones to supporting healthier aging and overall well-being in the communities that Ryan Health proudly serves.
